If you have any queries regarding this website privacy policy, please contact dataprivacymanager@bartonwillmore.co.uk. We will do our best to deal with your queries as soon as possible. In the event you require a copy of your personal data that we retain please contact dataprivacymanager@bartonwillmore.co.uk.

You have the right to make a complaint at any time to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues (www.ico.org.uk). We would, however, appreciate the chance to deal with your concerns before you approach the ICO so please contact us in the first instance.

We may update this website privacy policy at any time without notice. Updates will be marked with a new edition number and dated accordingly. You agree to review this policy regularly and to be bound by the policy then in force as it appears on our website.

What personal information do we collect?

It is not necessary for you to provide us with any personal information in order for you to access the general information sections of the website. However, if you wish to benefit from any online services that we offer via the website and/or to register with us, you will need to provide us with certain personal information such as your name and contact details including your e-mail address.

If you choose to submit a job and/or vacation placement via the website we will collect and hold the information that you provide in that application. Our Employment Candidate Privacy Notice [link] gives details about the way in which we retain and use your information in this context.

How will we use your information?

Except as otherwise stated above, we will use the information that you provided to us online for the purposes of:

- dealing with your requests and/or enquiries;
- carrying out analysis;
- improving the quality of our services;
- tracking activity on our website;
- protecting our website against unauthorised access;
- complying with statutory and/or regulatory obligations.

Who do we disclose your information to?

We will not share your personal information with any third parties except that we may disclose your personal information to the police or other public sector bodies with authority to request such information and/or fraud prevention agencies for the purpose of preventing fraud/loss, to prevent, detect or discourage crime and/or for the apprehension or prosecution of offenders.

This website may include links to third-party websites, plug-ins and applications. Clicking on those links or enabling those connections may allow third parties to collect or share data about you. We do not control these third-party websites and are not responsible for their privacy statements. When you leave our website, we encourage you to read the privacy notice of every website you visit.

Usage tracking

Barton Willmore sometimes tracks and catalogues the search terms that users enter in our Search function, but this tracking is never associated with individual users. We may use tracking information to determine which areas of our sites users like and don't like based on traffic to those areas. We do not track what individual users read, but rather how well each page performs overall. This helps us continue to build a better service for you.

Cookies

We may sometimes use an internet device called a cookie to store login or other information on your computer. However, it must be noted that cookies cannot be used to identify you personally.

We use Google Analytics to store information such as the time you visit the Website, whether you have visited before and the website that you visited prior to visiting our Website. For further information about Google Analytics please see <http://www.google.com/intl/en/analytics/privacyoverview.html>.

From time to time we embed videos from YouTube using YouTube's privacy-enhanced mode. This mode may set cookies on your computer once you click on the YouTube video player, but YouTube will not store personally-identifiable cookie information for playbacks of embedded videos using the privacy-enhanced mode. To find out more please visit Google's information page.

Transfer of personal information

In the event that Barton Willmore were to undergo any form of restructuring, whether by acquisition, merger or otherwise, we may continue to use and share your personal data across the restructured firm.

Changes and Information

Should you wish to have your information updated or corrected, you may contact dataprivacymanager@bartonwillmore.co.uk. We will use our reasonable endeavours to update or correct your information as soon as possible.

Security

Barton Willmore operates secure data networks protected by industry standard firewall and password protection systems. Our security and privacy policies are periodically reviewed and enhanced as necessary and only authorised individuals have access to the information provided by users of our website and our clients.

Please note that whilst we endeavour to take all reasonable steps to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee the security of any personal information and/or other data that you disclose to us online via the website. You accept the inherent risks of providing information and dealing online over the internet and you will not hold us responsible for any breach of security unless this is due to our negligence or wilful default.

Your consent

By using this website, you consent to the collection and use of your personal information by Barton Willmore in accordance with the terms of this website privacy policy. If at any time you wish to cease using your personal information, please contact dataprivacymanager@bartonwillmore.co.uk.

Viruses

Please note that viruses and similar destructive programs are an inherent risk of communication via the Internet. Whilst we will use our reasonable endeavours to prevent contamination of any material accessed by you via the website, we do not to the maximum extent permitted by law, accept any liability for any virus or similar destructive code which computer equipment and/or software used by you may suffer as a result of you accessing this website and/or as a result of any other communication via the Internet between you and us.

It is your sole responsibility to scan what you choose to download from this website to ensure that it is free from viruses, worms, Trojan horses and other similar destructive code.

Registration

If you wish to register for any services provided via this website, you agree to provide accurate, current and complete information about yourself when completing your registration. We will use this information for the purpose of processing and managing your registration and in order to provide the relevant services to you.

Any user name and/or password we issue to you are personal to you and you may not share these with and/or transfer these to any third party. You are solely responsible for any user name and/or password and you shall immediately notify us if you are aware of any breach of security.

Any user name and/or password must not be offensive and we reserve the right to block your use of the website if we reasonably believe the user name and/or password to be inappropriate for any reason.

We may at our sole discretion and for any reason, suspend and/or cancel your registration to any of our services.

Website content disclaimer

The information contained in this website is provided on an "as is" basis. The information is given in good faith for general information only and is subject to change without notice.
